The story began a long time ago in an eastern European city. A very worried man was walking along the street and he was talking to himself out loud, "What am I going to do? We’re almost out of money. I’ve… I’ve lost my job and… and… how am I going to feed my wife and… and our children and… and where will our rent money come from? He cast his eyes upward and he said, "Oh, I could use some help right now."

Suggested Narrow Transcriptions of Assignment 2