

A Model Format for a Paper

The Title of My Paper

(double the space)

My Name

My school number

(double the space)

I. Introduction (Including literature review or background)

Explain why you want to do this study. Put your research questions in this section.

(double the space)

II. Methodology

Subjects

Describe the background of the participants or the subjects involved in this study.

Instruments

Describe the means you use for this study, including the treatments, how the results are tested, etc.

(double the space)

III. Results and Discussion (or III. Results & IV. Discussion)

Explain how the data you have are analyzed and how the results should be interpreted, including how the results are to be applied or used in any way.

Here you have to include the descriptive data and the value of the t test, if any.

And then interpret how the study go with the research questions.

(double the space)

IV. Conclusion

Describe how this study means to you and to the human society, etc.

What's the contribution of the study and what are the limitations?

(double the space)

References

Cite any references you used from the library or the web or any other places.

(double the space)

Appendix (If any)