One evening, Ray attended Jessica's wedding. He was totally drunk before he got there because he couldn't behave rationally on the wedding. Jessica, the woman he loved with all his life, broke his heart and married a man a hundred times richer than he. On the wedding he laughed a lot and drank even more. He thought he was making himself a big joke.

On the way home, he got a taxi. Being drunk, he couldn't tell the driver where he lived. He just cried and laughed, singing songs he didn't know. He even didn't have money to pay. The taxi driver was angry and tried every means to make Ray get out of the car. Not knowing what he was doing, he exchanged blows with the driver as if the driver was Jessica's new husband. Finally, he threw up on the taxi and fell into a long sleep.

When he woke up, he realized that he was in a police station. He felt dizzy and very uncomfortable. A policeman spoke angrily, "Sir, you hit a driver, caused several accidents and slept over 32 hours, you are in big trouble now!"

One evening, I attended to John's wedding party. John was my college classmate as well as my best friend. I gave my best wishes to him and drank cups of wine with him.

In the end of the party, it was almost 23:00. I was drunken and walked in uncontrolled step. I felt as if I were a little bird jumping on the edge of cloud gently.

After taking a little walk, I stopped a taxi by road, what a nice taxi I got. The driver even dressed in uniform, just like police officer. And inside the car that decorated like a police car. Because of my alcholic, I fell in sleep quickly.

When I woke up. "Hey, I'm in a police station". I said "You have wasted our time and fuel, I'll give you a ticket for $500 as a punishment." Boy! It was the most expensive wedding party I have ever attended.

Tom's terrible night

One evening, Tom was invited to his friend's wedding. He wore suit and got prepared for anything needed, and then he hurried to the wedding in his car.

When he arrived, the host welcomed him and brought him to the hall. There were a lot of guests enjoying the wedding. Tom saw the girl who was married to Tom's friend, and said, "Wow! What a beautiful woman." And the friend responded, "that is right, and that is the reason I marry here. Ha! Just a joke!" Tom laughed, and the friend said that Tom can enjoy himself as possible as he could.

Tom had had a feast, and drunk a lot of glasses of wine. It seems that Tom had got drunken. His friend urged him not to drive himself in case of accidents, and suggested him to call taxi home. Tom thought his friend was right, and then called a taxi. But he left his wallet in his friend's house and he didn't notice it because he was drunk. The taxi got in front of Tom's house. The moment he wanted to pay the bill, he couldn't find his wallet in his pocket. Sadly, he was sent to police station for the compensation of the driver. We all can say that the alcohol is the poison in our life.
