One evening, I was invited to attend
a wedding feast which my bosom friend, David, held. I got acquainted with him three years ago. While we were attending the same college.
It is easy to get along with him. It is my blessing to make such a nice person as him.

On that night, I was so happy that I drank too much. After the feast, I got drunk and walked unstably. I made a big mistake, I took the police car for taxi.
The police scolded me and asked me
not to do it again. Hence the experience, I have learned how to control myself not
to drink too much.

One evening, a man was invited to the wedding.

Pleasure as he would be, he got drunk. Then, he could just find a taxi home. AT that time a police car went by. However, he was so drunk and just went into the police car.

The next morning, he woke up. He didn't know where he was and felt very uncomfortable. suddenly, a policeman came to him and told him what had happened last night. He was so embarrassed and didn't know what to do on the spot. Surely, this accident might be very impressed to the man and the policeman.

One evening, Peter dressed himself up and were ready to go to his best friend's wedding party. He was so excited, for it had been ages since last time he saw him. By leaps and bounds, he finally got to the restaurant where the reception was held. Standing by the door was his friend, Steve, greeting all guests warmly. At the sight of Peter, Steve could not hold back the urge and yelled, "Hey buddy, let's go get something to drink!" As the top two alcoholics on campus in the college, Peter had prepared himself for the blast tonight. Without hesitation, the two of them soon went inside and started to drink to their heart's content. They laughed and talked over cups of liquor! Which they thought the "soft drinks" to them. Both of them enjoyed themselves so much that they lost track of time. When it was time for Peter to go home, he was drunk to such a degree that he could hardly tell the things he saw because everything seemed to be covered with fog and became vague. Seeing a car with something flashing lights from the top, Peter mistook it for a taxi. Therefore, he raised his arm and hatched for it. Being so drunk, he got unconscious as soon as he got in the car. The next morning, he awoke to find himself in a police station with a cop staring at him, yelling: "How many times do you want me to drive you home?" Much to Peter's embarrassment, he finally learned his lessons.

One evening, Ray attended Jessica's wedding. He was totally drunk before he got there because he couldn't behave rationally on the wedding. Jessica, the woman he loved with all his life, broke his heart and married a man a hundred times richer than he. On the wedding he laughed a lot and drank even more. He thought he was making himself a big joke.

On the way home, he got a taxi. Being drunk, he couldn't tell the driver where he lived. He just cried and laughed, singing songs he didn't know. He even didn't have money to pay. The taxi driver was angry and tried every means to make Ray get out of the car. Not knowing what he was doing, he exchanged blows with the driver as if the driver was Jessica's new husband. Finally, he threw up on the taxi and fell into a long sleep.

When he woke up, he realized that he was in a police station. He felt dizzy and very uncomfortable. A policeman spoke angrily, "Sir, you hit a driver, caused several accidents and slept over 32 hours, you are in big trouble now!"
